Greeks Launch All-Out Attack Against Rebels

Close Trap on Guerrillas—May Ask United States Help in Enlarging Army

ATHENS, July 16 (AP).—Supported by planes and heavy gunfire, the Greek army launched a full-scale attack late today on approximately 2,500 guerrillas in the hills north of Ioannina, near the Albanian frontier.

To Prepare Low Rental Homes Plan

Ottawa to Consider Proposal of Mayors

OTTAWA, July 16 (CP).—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities agreed today to prepare a plan for a national low-rental housing program for consideration by the Federal Government.

Declaring that a housing crisis exists in the Dominion, the mayors met with Reconstruction Minister Howe at his office in the Parliament Buildings.

In a brief prepared at their convention in Winnipeg last week, they asked the Minister to undertake immediate drafting and implementation of a low-rental housing program across Canada.

Spokesmen for the delegation said Mr. Howe gave the petition "favorable" reception and suggested the chief magistrates submit a more detailed program for the consideration of the Government.

The mayors termed the program a "vital necessity" to meet the needs of low-income groups. Blaming a construction backlog from the 1930's as the chief cause of the present housing shortage, they said the building industry "even at full capacity" could not produce sufficient homes for all the people who would need them for years to come.

Success of Greek Army May Prevent Major War

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

"Peace in our time" seems today to depend very strongly on the success or failure of the little Greek army.

When Herschel Johnson told the United Nations that the Balkan situation might "burst into an explosion any day" he probably was thinking mostly of a localized, not a general war. Western diplomats still are working on the theory that even Russia, regardless of what chances she might take in five or ten years, will call off the forces of international Communism before she will let them drag her into a conflict. The United States State Department was reported considering the Greek crisis calmly, disinclined to overemphasize its dangers, and hoping for effective United Nations action.

What if the Greek army fails to win the battle in which it now is engaged? And if the international Communists continue to throw in reinforcements in defiance of the U.N. committee which already has reported Russia's satellites guilty of aggression?

United States diplomatic planning, as far as I can learn, has not progressed to the point of a policy which will be followed in case the guerrillas entrench themselves in Greek territory and try to set up an independent state for inclusion in a Communist-Balkan federation.

Would the small (though locally significant) British forces move in first, to be followed by more American troops themselves? If they did, and the Communist bloc then poured in reinforcements on the other side, the result is obvious.

To those fighting for the time being, that means, any means, may be found of skirting present animosities and ultimately finding peace, the battle of the Greek army represents a vital holding operation.

Whether the Greek army will ever again have an annual agricultural exhibition is still very much a moot point, but it is at least certain that there will be no fair this year, according to E. M. Whyte, president of the B.C. Agricultural Association.

Because of difficulties raised by Oak Bay municipality, the association abandoned plans for this year but is still keeping an eye open for other locations in the Greater Victoria area.

Rumors have been circulating for some months that S. W. Randall, president of the Colwood Golf Course, is trying to sell the Wilsons grounds, which he purchased from the city last year for $125,000. He was one of those recently injured in the purchase of the Colwood Golf Course. Since only a portion of the 237-acre property is used for the fairways, it is understood Mr. Randall had considered building a race track on the site.

Because it is the usual practice to hold agricultural exhibitions at the same time as race meets, and since the exhibition associations are dependent to a considerable extent on the gate receipts derived by people who attend the races, it is expected that the outcome of difficulties over a race track here will greatly affect the possibility of future fairs.

They estimate that with the resumption of shipping to the Orient more than 500 have returned to their homeland within the last few months, while virtually no newcomers have arrived.

Recent changes in the immigration laws of Canada permitting naturalized Chinese to bring their families out from China will have virtually no effect on the number coming here, according to Lee Kim and Quam Wah, prominent businessmen in the district. They pointed out that most of the naturalized Chinese are now about 60 years of age and it is from this group that most are returning to China to retire.

The young men born and educated here are marrying native-born women and display little inclination to leave they say.

Most of those who have returned to their homeland during the last few months have had to go to the United States to obtain ship passages. As soon as shipping to the Orient from West Coast ports of Canada is resumed, local leaders look for a greatly increased flow of repatriates.

Many of the older Chinese, it is said, are reluctant to go to the United States to obtain shipping and

Destroyer Micmac in Collision With Freighter

Five persons were dead, six missing and 16 others reported injured last night following the news that H.M.C.S. Micmac, Canadian Tribal class destroyer pictured above, had collided with a freighter at the mouth of Halifax Harbor yesterday. The bow of the destroyer, which was commissioned in 1945, was severely crumpled and the ship was torn open for 45 feet along her port side. Some of the dead and injured were pinned down by the mass of girders forward. Micmac had just completed her steering trials prior to her second commission and was returning to port when she collided with the freighter Yarmouth Count.

Marshall Plan Major Battle For U.N. Body

LAKE SUCCESS, July 16 (AP).

Delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social Council began assembling tonight for the council's fifth session which many expect to develop into a major fight between Russia and the Western powers over the Marshall plan.

Preliminary discussions will begin at 11 a.m. tomorrow when the agenda committee meets to consider 36 items on the provisional calendar. The council itself holds its first meeting Saturday.

Tomorrow's economic discussions begin as the Security Council resumes debate on the Balkan question, which the United States is pressing.

Authoritative sources said some U.N. delegations were considering the possibility of setting up a Greek border watch outside the world organization if Russia blocked action on the Balkans.

Settlement was still remote in the last main problem delaying the formation of an all-Indonesian Federal Interim Government to implement an agreement for a United States of Indonesia under the Dutch Crown.

Establishment of a joint Dutch-Indonesian constabulary to maintain law and order remains the chief problem.

The Russians, headed by Prof. Alexander P. Morozov, were silent about their plans, but there appeared to be little doubt that they would carry to the council their fight against the British-French plans to implement the Marshall program.

Morozov already has indicated he would make another controversial Soviet proposal to outlaw international loans for military purposes. This proposal, if adopted, would strike directly at the American program of aid to Greece and Turkey.

OTTAWA, July 16 (CP).—What- ever "weaknesses" there have been in the Progressive Conservative organization "will be eradicated" as a result of lessons learned in Monday's Halifax by-election, an official Progressive Conservative Association statement said tonight amid reports of criticism over the party's showing in that contest.

Issued by J. M. Macdonnell (P.C., Muskoka-Ontario), association president, the statement denied "ill-founded rumors" in "some of the more ardent Liberal newspapers" that there was a "discontent" in the Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Macdonnell attributed the Liberal victory at Halifax to a number of public works projects which he said the Government had promised in that region, to the support of Federal and Provincial civil servants there and to a new "upped" financial agreement between the Dominion and Nova Scotia.

Toughing on reports of party discontent, he said: "These stories are attempts to sow discontent in the party and undermine the position of the leader. This is party warfare. So far as the question of John Bracken's leadership is concerned I need say only one thing: There is not one iota of truth in any suggestion that his leadership is in question."

Mr. Macdonnell's statement came on the heels of reports quoting a considerable section of the Parliamentary contingent of Progressive Conservatives as saying bad organization was responsible for the fact the party candidate trailed the Liberal and C.C.F. candidates in Halifax.

One member commented: "We had a crackpot candidate and rotten organization." This sentiment was echoed by others.

OTTAWA, July 16 (CP).—France proposed to the European economic conference today that colonial resources of all 18 member countries be included in drawing up the economic balance sheet in a co-ordinated reconstruction program under the Marshall plan.

Addressing the opening session of the new organization's "co-operation" or steering committee, Herve Alphand of France said the 18 should reckon overseas production of essential materials in compiling their needs and assets.

French sources said no opposition was expressed to this move to encompass British colonies, France's territories in Africa, Asia and America, the Belgian Congo, Portuguese colonies in Africa and Asia, Dutch possessions and even Denmark's Greenland.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain already has pledged Britain's colonial resources to continental co-operation.

Because most of those returning home are older men, stores catering mainly to the Chinese trade are looking for a steady diminution of their business. Native-born sons are completely sold on a Canadian diet.

Many leading Chinese are now advising old-timers against returning home. They explain that those who have spent the greater part of their lives here are frequently unable to stand the harsh climate in many parts of China. Living costs have risen so much as a result of wartime inflation, they claim, that it is now cheaper for the old men to spend their sunset years in the Victoria area.

Jewish Group to Try To Enter Palestine

JERUSALEM, July 16 (Reuters).

About 4,000 illegal Jewish immigrants, who left Marseille, July 13, are expected to approach the Palestine coast July 18 or 19 in an attempt to run the British blockade, a well-informed Jewish source said tonight.

The ship left Marseille with clearance papers for Colombia, South America, the Jewish source said.

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP).—The United States is putting its atom bomb factory on a permanent basis.

This grim footnote to the long and thus far fruitless efforts to set up world controls over nuclear energy came to light today in a United States Atomic Energy Commission announcement of plans to "permanently and effectively modernize" the war-built town of Los Alamos, N.M.

The first A-bomb was made there. It was tested at Alamogordo, N.M., two years ago today.

The commission announcement said that Carroll L. Tyler, retired navy captain and ordnance expert, will be in charge of the Los Alamos laboratory, "where a multi-million dollar improvement program is under way."

Word of the Los Alamos "permanently" coincided with another disclosure relating to military matters. That was the army's identification of the secret Sandia base near Albuquerque, N.M., as a unit of the little-known "armed forces special weapons project."

Virtually nothing is known of the nature of work at this project except that Maj.-Gen. Leslie R. Groves, director of the Manhattan project when the army made A-bombs, is associated with it.

The commission has declined to discuss statements by scientists and public officials that the United States either has or is developing atomic bombs of tremendously greater power than the five exploded to date.

Major-General G. R. Pearkes, M.P., will meet Braefoot tenants early next week to decide future action to be taken on the contentious issue concerning price reduction on homes on the Saanich Veterans' Land Act project.

Robert Knight, some representative of the Canadian Legion, said last night the matter of bringing the entire issue before the public accounts committee of the House of Commons would be discussed.

He heartily endorsed a recommendation that the Government appoint a three-man board to examine defects in veterans' housing projects made recently by the Commons public accounts committee.

GENOVA, July 16 (AP).—Forty-two children drowned today when a boat in which they were sailing struck an underwater fortification, overturned and sank near Lango, southwest of Savona off the Ligurian Coast.

Naval Collision Kills Five Men; Six Are Missing

Canadian Destroyer Micmac Strikes Vessel in Halifax Harbor—16 Hurt

HALIFAX, July 16 (CP).—The Canadian Tribal class destroyer Micmac put in here tonight under her own power and landed five dead and 16 injured after a collision with a freighter at the harbor mouth while her sister ship, Haida, continued to search the outer waters in a dense fog for six missing men, including a dockyard civilian worker.

(No British Columbia men were reported among the casualties. The complete list is printed on page 2.)

None of the 41 crew members on the Yarmouth County were hurt. She put back into port after the accident with her plates torn forward above the water-line.

The destroyer had a naval crew of 178 plus eight civilian workers aboard.

Micmac had just completed her steaming trials prior to her second commission and was returning to port at 1 p.m., when she collided with the Yarmouth County bound for New York for cargo.

The bow of the destroyer, first commissioned in 1945, was crumpled like a concertina and she was torn open for 45 feet along her port side. Forward she was a mass of girders which had pinned down some of the dead and injured.

Comdr. J. C. Litter, captain of the ship, was on the bridge, coming his craft through the fog two miles inside Sambro Light when she hit.

"I saw the freighter looming like what seemed directly over my head," he said, "and then the crash came. I knew right away it wouldn't sink and gave commands for damage control."

On the Yarmouth County several sailors were thrown from their bunks with the impact of the collision. She steamed back to port at reduced speed.

It was the second mishap for the Yarmouth County within a month. While under repairs at the Halifax shipyard her deck plates and paint locker was scorched by fire which took firemen three hours to get under control.

"It was believed the six missing men had been thrown into the sea when the crash came and officers at the dockyard here were pessimistic about Haida's chances of picking them up in the dense fog all day."

The destroyer captain, rather than assess individual heroism to any of the 150 members of his crew, said they had all done well from the time the emergency came.

"The efficiency of the men from the time it happened was better than I have ever seen—even during wartime."

The gangplank dispersed after a one-hour gun battle fought by another group of French troops.

OTTAWA, July 16 (CP).—Forty persons were killed and several injured when a troop train was attacked by an armed gang at Binh Hoa, 30 miles from Saigon, two days ago, it was reported here today.

The gangsters dispersed after a one-hour gun battle fought by another group of French troops.

Kenney to Rule on Points In Island Labor Dispute

With the labor relations board provided for under British Columbia's new Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act not yet appointed, acting Labor Minister E. T. Kenney will sit in a judicial capacity July 23 to decide questions of fact in connection with the Nanaimo laundry dispute, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Kenney, who has been acting for several weeks in the absence of Labor Minister G. S. Pearson, will rule on seven specific points referred to the minister of labor by Nanaimo Magistrate L. Beaver-Potts.

Court hearings of charges against the union, three union officials, and individual strikers at the Imperial Laundry plant will be adjourned until the points raised by the magistrate have been settled by the acting minister.

The hearings before Mr. Kenney, probably in Victoria, will be the first of the kind in British Columbia's labor history. Sitting in place of the labor relations board, his decision will be final under Section 58 of the Act.

Prosecuting and defence lawyers will have power to call whatever witnesses they deem necessary to aid the minister in deciding:

1. Whether the strikers are in fact employees of the company.
2. Whether they are a collective bargaining unit as prescribed by the act.
3. Whether their union is properly constituted under the act.
4. Whether the union was the recognized bargaining agent.
5. Whether the bargaining agreement was a proper one.
6. Whether employees concerned were parties to the agreement.
7. Whether the agreement has full force and effect.

Woman Seeks Quebec Seat

HUNTINGDON, Que., July 16 (CP).—The July 28 Huntingdon provincial by-election became a straight two-way fight today as nominations closed with the entering of only two names—those of Mrs. Mae L. O'Connor, Liberal, and John Gilles Rennie, Union Nationale.

Winning Poster—And Winner

THE tree of life might well be the designation of the above poster with which Henry Eveleigh, of Montreal, won the first prize of $1,500 in the United Nations Poster Contest, as announced by Sir Norman Angell at Lake Success. The Montreal artist's design shows a pair of hands planting a young tree whose leaves are the flag of the 54 United Nations members. Upon the vigor with which this tree takes root depends the future peace, and survival of civilization. The contest was featured by designs from artists of the various member countries. In the lower picture, Mr. Eveleigh is pictured receiving congratulations upon his award.

Britain Buying Soviet Timber

LONDON, July 16 (AP).—Britain has negotiated contracts with the Soviet Union for supplies of Russian timber, a spokesman of the British trade delegation to Moscow said on his arrival here tonight.

Other members of the delegation, headed by Harold Wilson of the British Board of Trade, remained in Moscow still seeking contracts for 1,000,000 tons of Russian grain in exchange for machinery and other manufactured articles. The spokesman said the talks made "remarkable progress" and that the group was optimistic of success. He added that Russia's refusal to join in the Marshall plan for the reconstruction of Europe did not upset the British-Soviet negotiations "to any extent."

New Process Adds to Speed Of Newspaper Reproduction

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP).—Development of a newspaper printing method eliminating linotype machines, matrices and stereotype plates was announced today by John H. Perry Jr., chairman, and his brother Farwell W. Perry, president of the William J. Higgins Company. Entire pages are printed directly from a single sheet of engraved magnesium weighing less than a pound compared with 46 pounds for the conventional stereotype plate now in use.

Composition of body type is done by proportional spacing typewriters,

Offering Help Against Polio

VANCOUVER, July 16 (AP).—Dr. Stewart Murray, senior city medical health officer, told a meeting here today that equipment for treatment of poliomyelitis can be rushed from Seattle or Montreal if required.

He said the Seattle representative of the National Infantile Paralysis Committee had assured him of any equipment he wanted.

The Montreal Branch of the Canadian Legion had advised branch headquarters here that it would be willing to rush equipment if it is necessary.

Debate on Veterans' Affairs Helps Hold Back Prorogation

OTTAWA, July 16 (AP).—Canada's pension liability from the two World Wars is increasing at the rate of $800,000 a month, although other expenses in this field are declining, Veterans' Minister Mackenzie told the Commons today.

Giving the Chamber a review of departmental activities as study of Veterans' Land Act homes built in Canada.

Capt. Walter Tucker, Parliamentary secretary to Mr. Mackenzie, reported that Mr. Fleming's demand amounted to "drama."

The night debate came before the House in the midst of a last-minute drive for prorogation, a prorogation which some members had hoped would be reached tonight, but which appeared to be at least another sitting day away.

The appropriations came as an anti-climax to a heated debate which developed at the morning sitting, and carried over into the early afternoon, over a C.C.F. motion urging the Government to give "immediate" consideration to increases in pensions' allowances for veterans.

The resolution, branded by Prime Minister Mackenzie King as a want-of-confidence motion which could precipitate a general election if approved, finally was rejected by an 84 to 54 vote in which the Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties lined up solidly against Government supporters.

Veterans entered, as well, into the House opening with an announcement by Defence Minister Claxton that the Canadian General Service Badge, Canada's wedge-shaped discharge button, would be issued to Canadians who served with any other Commonwealth or Allied force in the World War.

EXCHANGE RUMORED

OTTAWA, July 16 (AP).—An external affairs spokesman said tonight that negotiations are proceeding for the exchange of diplomatic missions between Canada and Italy but no decision is expected for a month or more.

TRADE PACT SIGNED

BUDAPEST, July 16 (AP).—Budapest newspapers said today that a local club, said Kiwanians had been told to sell tickets to white persons only.

Negro Will Receive Cadillac Won, But Denied Him, in Draw

AROSKIE, N.C., July 16 (AP).—Harvey Jones, young Negro war veteran, had the promise of a new $3,200 Cadillac today but he pondered how he is going to get it to his small, backwards home.

Notified that the Aroskie Kiwanis Club, spurred on by a mounting wave of protests, had decided to provide another Cadillac to replace the one he won—and lost—in the club's raffle last week when Negroes were barred from the drawing, Jones took the news calmly.

A veteran of 18 months' navy service, Jones lives with his wife and baby on his father's small farm. A rough narrow lane about a quarter-mile long connects the house with the nearest highway.

Asked how he planned to negotiate the lane with the car, the young farmer replied thoughtfully: "A Cadillac is too big for the lane. It could not be driven up there."

He said he would take "cash if possible" instead of the car. Directors of the club acted after receiving a telephone call from their international president, Dr. Carl W. Armstrong of Salisbury, urging them to see that Jones received a car identical with the one given away in the lottery.

Armstrong told them he had been bombarded with telegraph and telephone messages from widespread parts of the country since publication yesterday of the report that the Negro's winning number had been thrown out and another drawing made. On the second drawing the car was awarded to Dr. Charles Townes, retired physician of Waverly, Va., already the owner of a Cadillac.

Rupert Massey, president of the local club, said Kiwanians had been told to sell tickets to white persons only.

Statement on Arena Finances Released by Committee Head

An up-to-date statement on the condition of finances for the Memorial Arena was released yesterday by Ald. R. A. C. Dewar, chairman of the arena committee.

Receipts from all sources total $343,047, while actual expenditures stand at $111,372. Present contracts and commitments amount to $274,594, leaving in the fund $68,453.

Included in the receipts so far are $65,000 raised by public donations, $3,047 from interest on Victory Bonds, $150,000 from debentures authorized in a money-by-law and $125,000 from the sale of the Willows fair grounds.

Expenditures include $58,147 for excavations and foundations, $6,000 on account of architect's fees, $7,840 on the account of C. T. Hamilton, consulting engineer, $35,244 on account of the $138,919 contract for the roof and walls and $4,339 for sundry items.

Out of the $68,452 of money from the fund so far not earmarked, the cost of constructing the walls, seats, flooring and other inside furnishings must still be met in addition to a number of other sundry expenses.

It has been estimated that this sum will be far from sufficient for what remains to be done.

NO RAISE IN FEES

Tuition fees at Victoria College will not be raised for the Autumn term, it was announced by the office of the principal yesterday.

The term fee now is $150, an increase of $2, which is a caution fee for the use of the library.

SUGAR ADMINISTRATION

John Barker, secretary of the local ration board, was advised yesterday that, effective July 1, the administration will be called the sugar administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The move, according to the director of local ration boards, was "to effect further economies and in line with good business practice."

The only difference to the local board, it was added, would be that directives would be in the name of the "sugar administration" rather than the "ration administration."

PHILATELIC SOCIETY

Third annual Hobby Show will be held at the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver, from August 23 to September 1. R. Nairne, of the Vancouver Island Philatelic Society, reported yesterday.

All types of hobbies will be represented from model aircraft making to stamp collecting. There is no entry fee and exhibits should be received by August 6.

Local exhibitors may obtain prospectus and entry forms from R. M. Angus, Arcade Building, or R. Nairne, 602 Broughton Street.

B.C.'s Coal Production Boosted For Second Successive Month

For the second month in succession, figures issued by the Department of Mines yesterday covering coal production in June show a substantial increase in tonnage from British Columbia mines.

Prior to May, output in British Columbia had been declining steadily for years.

June figure for the province as a whole was 126,360 long tons, compared with 113,437 in the corresponding month last year. Chiefly responsible for the improved picture was East Kootenay district, where production jumped from 68,852 to 82,763 tons.

The improvement was not reflected on Vancouver Island, however, where the total June output dropped to 39,500 tons, from 41,855. The June figure showed an increase of 1,127 tons over the output for May of this year.

No. 10 Mine, South Wellington, was the only major producer on the Island to show an increase last month, from 16,260 tons to 17,838. Comox Colliery dropped to 16,132 from 19,870.

City Man Uses Wheelbarrow To Carry Friend to Esquimalt

The wheelbarrow taxi-cab of Pat Lewis, 132 Wellington Avenue, made its first and last trip across Victoria last night.

With hearty shouts of "Go to it, Pat," neighbors turned out to watch as he started into the sunset, pushing his good friend, William Jenkins, across the Fairfield district, through the business section and up to his home on Pine Street in the northwest section of Esquimalt.

The unusual one-man taxi-ho was the result of a friendly argument last Saturday night.

Mr. Jenkins proposed taking a taxi from Wellington Avenue to his Pine Street home.

"Why there's no need to take a taxi—I could push you that far in a wheelbarrow," Mr. Lewis said.

Mr. Jenkins disagreed, and the two placed a friendly wager.

At 7 o'clock last night, the two men met on Wellington Avenue.

Tax Collections Up Over 1946

Percentage of current taxes paid in Oak Bay is slightly higher than last year, R. P. Blandy, municipal clerk and treasurer, reported to Oak Bay Council last night.

A record of tax collections as of June 30 showed slightly over 92 per cent or $313,616 received, compared with $270,892 at the similar period in 1946.

Mr. Blandy said receipts from arrears have now become a minor factor in the municipality's finances.

"We are now free from debt to the bank, but cash on hand is lower than usual because of advances on capital accounts—some $50,000. These can be adjusted in the next few weeks," stated Mr. Blandy.

In a half-yearly financial statement submitted by Mr. Blandy, expenditures to date on budget accounts stand at $262,095.

"As total budget votes (estimates) are $492,450, we have spent more than half the year's estimates. Even the council and police expenses are over the 50 per cent mark."

"On the receipt side, taxes are up $41,000 compared with 1946, but our levy was $45,560 greater. Total receipts are up only $25,000. There has been a sharp falling off in tax sales lands and interest, as was fore-shadowed at estimate time," Mr. Blandy reported.

Accident Victim Makes Progress

According to doctor's reports from Vancouver General Hospital yesterday, J. P. M. Hannah, deputy superintendent of motor vehicles at Victoria, is making good progress following serious head injuries in a blasting accident on the Cariboo Highway.

Superintendent G. A. Hood said it was expected Mr. Hannah would have to remain in hospital for several weeks, however, and some months would probably elapse before he could return to duty here.

Mr. Hannah was struck on the head by a flying rock while blasting was in progress in the Fraser Canyon. He had stopped his car en route to the Interior to await the blast, and was talking to two United States tourists when the rock hit him.

Unconscious, he was rushed to hospital at Lytton and subsequently taken by ambulance to Vancouver. Two operations were necessary to remove splinters resulting from the blow.

Oak Bay Tables Legion Request On Housing Aid

Request from the Victoria and District Zone Council of the Canadian Legion to have Oak Bay Council meet a representative of Wartime Housing Ltd. to discuss the possibility of the municipality erecting low-priced rental housing was laid over till a later meeting of the council last night.

"In a canvass of the families in Emergency Shelter projects, including applications filed for housing with the Wartime Housing Ltd. and Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, there is an overwhelming percentage that say they can only afford and want reasonably priced rental housing," the Legion brief pointed out.

The Legion expressed hope that Oak Bay would be desirous of bringing into immediate action the adoption of the standard Wartime Housing Agreement, "which other municipalities have satisfactorily negotiated as the most satisfactory method of alleviating the veterans' rental housing needs."

Hope was expressed that the municipality would give favorable consideration to have Wartime Housing agree with the council in erecting at least 100 rental housing units in the municipality.

Oak Bay Will Patrol District Beaches

Oak Bay police department will be instructed by the council to patrol district beaches to ensure that all beach fires are properly extinguished at night.

Brought to the council's attention by Councillor George Murdoch, it was pointed out that at least two children recently had been severely burned because beach parties merely scattered sand over hot coals to put out fires.

Reeve Walter Walker said he was reluctant to stop beach parties, adding that it might pay to have responsible persons patrol the beaches for the remainder of the summer.

The council agreed that if the police department found its staff insufficient to handle the task, the reeve would have power to act.

Councillor Murdoch also noted that one night when four fires were burning on a beach, only one permit had been issued by the fire department. He pointed out that the permit ruled that all beach fires must be extinguished with water.

LaGuardia Making Slow Recovery

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP).—Former Mayor Fiorella H. La Guardia, who was operated on June 16 for a pancreas condition, was described today by his physician as "quite a sick man."

Dr. George Baehr said La Guardia's convalescence was "extremely slow" and the post-operative prognosis indicated he was "far from well." La Guardia, former Director General of U.N.R.R.A., returned to his home last Saturday.

Gasoline Prices

For some months there has been a movement under way by the major oil companies to secure an advance in price of gasoline to the consumer in this province. The formal application has been before the Provincial Coal and Petroleum Control Board for several weeks, and the board's recommendation is now going forward "to the Cabinet." That means, of course, that the Provincial Government will have the last say in the matter. The decision will be one of some importance, not only to the motorist but also economically.

When the Provincial Cabinet comes to the consideration of this issue some precedent facts should be borne in mind. The British Columbia motorist is now paying a straight tax of ten cents a gallon on his motor fuel. Seven cents of this he paid normally to the Province. The other three cents was the "wartime-only" Federal tax which the Province took over two sessions ago, and applied this year. In other words, nearly one-third of the consumer cost now represents direct taxation to the Province, apart from the hidden taxation in the remaining portion.

If the consumer price is raised on top of that structure—either by the one cent unofficially suggested as the lowest addition or three cents as the highest—the cost of doing business in British Columbia will be increased for all commodities in which transportation by highway figures. It would be difficult indeed to find any commodity that in some fashion would not be directly or indirectly affected. Far more than the price of gasoline will go into the Government's decision, when it is made. Part of British Columbia's ability to hold its competitive export trade will be involved inescapably, and it is by that trade this province lives.

"Write Me a Letter"

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Veterans' Affairs, was slightly facetious when he spoke on the eve of the final sitting of Parliament. "Tomorrow," he is reported as saying, "we will take up everything and anything on the order paper," and "nothing comes first and nothing comes last" in that consideration. It is scarcely two months since the honorable gentleman was on Vancouver Island, being shown over some of the defective homes that were built in the Braefoot settlement.

The veterans asked for a 20 per cent reduction in the prices of the homes, for repairs and replacements, for adequate drainage and sewage systems, and for much other precise relief in relation to not a few of the housing units.

To each and all of them who made a protest about conditions in their homes Mr. Mackenzie made one suggestion. He said: "Write me a letter." Not a few of the Braefoot veterans did so. So did the Canadian Legion and some other ex-servicemen's groups. Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., and other Members in Parliament made direct representations at Ottawa on the same matter. Yet the Braefoot project apparently was not on the order paper, either among the things to be taken up first or last. It did not appear at all. The most anyone could learn of the matter was that the Government proposed to see that "repairs" were carried out at the site, and that was all.

Meanwhile, some veterans are still being asked to pay excessively high prices for indifferently constructed homes. The $4,800 they were told they might have to pay for such dwellings has not been realized. In a few initial cases prices exceeding $7,000 were asked. This substantially was not what the Ministry of Veterans' Affairs pledged when such projects were begun. The honorable gentleman may have his joke about the order paper, but to veterans' families trying to re-establish themselves after the war in their own land, it will not be a laughing matter. What did Mr. Mackenzie do with the letters he invited?

Sorry Exhibition

The new distribution bill jammed through Parliament by virtue of a disciplined Liberal majority provides evidence of the concern inspired in Governmental ranks by the Official Opposition. Only a knowledge of self weakness could have induced the Government to show a bias so openly. In one sense perhaps it is a tribute to the strength and parliamentary worth of the Progressive Conservative Party that the seats of four of its chief members should be singled out for total or near elimination, but the measure is in fact an obvious piece of political gerrymandering.

Under the new bill, House representation has been raised from 245 seats to 255, and the Government-dominated redistribution committee has arranged fresh constituency boundaries in the manner where it could do most injury politically to the Opposition. Mr. Bracken's constituency has been eliminated. So has that of the Progressive Conservative president, Mr. J. M. MacDonnell. In the sittings of Mr. John Diefenbaker and Mr. E. D. Fulton, both prominent Opposition front benchers, the areas have been altered to include large blocks of C.C.F. voters, with the obvious aim of depriving them of their seats at the next election. These four men are among the most able in Parliament.

Even C.C.F. members protested against what they called the "unfairness" of the bill, one of them accusing the Government of trying to keep out of the House "75 per cent of the fighting strength of the Conservative Party." That in itself should make measure, and reveal its partisan bias. By singular contrast, the least representative seat in Parliament, that held by Prime Minister King, has been left untouched. This has been a sorry exhibition by the King administration, one which the country is not likely to forget. The redistribution measure was well called "the action of a wornout Government in desperate straits."

Demise of a Raven

"Murder in the Tower of London!" All history leaps into mind at this news, with schoolboy remembrance of boyish Princes done to death and distinguished heads lopped off in days when this was the customary method of disposing of one's enemies, a practice still unfortunately prevalent in some parts of the world. Some irrelevant person has done injury to the Royal ravens by decapitating the bird that went under the name of "MacDonald." There must be another story, incidentally, behind this peculiar nomenclature.

"MacDonald," one would gather from the London news item, has been strutting traditionally for centuries around the famous tower, but of course this is not precisely the case. At best, or worst, he is only a descendant of the ravens which croaked when Anne Boleyn was beheaded, or when Sir Walter Raleigh languished in the tower dungeon. As usual when haste locks a stable door after it is too late, the guard has been "alerted," and a night and day vigil is being kept at the raven loft. This will not help "MacDonald," but his brothers have no doubt sounded their approval.

There will be more than passing interest in the safety of the remaining Royal ravens, since tradition avers that when the last raven disappears from the tower the walls will crumble. It is comforting to know, therefore, that modern keepers have a safeguard in reserve. Tradition calls for only four birds, but there is always one extra kept, "just in case." One does not just lightly with London's ancient legends, even in this enlightened age. The pity is that "MacDonald's" assailant is still unknown.

Silencing Opposition

With the precedent of Hungary still fresh in mind, the arrest of Romanian opposition leaders trying to flee their country should occasion no surprise. This is the standard technique of totalitarian regimes, used by Mussolini and Hitler and being followed by some states in Europe today. Bold men are not wanting to oppose tyranny, but they do so at personal risk even though elected members of national legislatures.

As usual, the arrests are made in the name of "democracy," but the real state of affairs is reflected in the urge to flee after having had the temerity to oppose the party in power. In truly democratic countries differences of political opinion are no cause for fear of personal safety. The distinction should not be lost on Canadians to whom appeals in the name of some foreign ideology are often made.

Seen in Passing

Jurists who have spent almost a lifetime on the bench know that human evidence is at times weak. With the very best of intentions and a shared desire to tell the truth, the most reliable of witnesses will see the same thing from different viewpoints and see very different facets of it. When good intention is lacking or when there is no desire to tell the truth, evidence goes out of the window and bias takes its place. We see, and occupy, different worlds.

No individual is entitled to say that he cannot do this or that, until he has tried to do it with all of his heart, and, failing, tried again and again. Most of the failures in life come from attempting things with half a heart, or with the inner conviction that they cannot be done. Life, in its little or great occasions, is what can be proved, not shirked, in the day's round.

Mirage

The hope I dreamed of was a dream:
Was but a dream; and now I wake,
Exceeding comfortless, and worn, and old,
For a dream's sake.

I hang my harp upon a tree,
A weeping willow in the lake;
I hang my silent harp there, wrung and snapt
For a dream's sake.

Lie still, lie still, my breaking heart;
My silent harp, lie still and break;
Life, and the world, and mine own self, are changed
For a dream's sake.

Precious Stones

Frank M. Kelley

An item in the local press a short time ago disclosed that somewhere in the province some chap had picked up what he considered to be a fair-sized diamond. Apparently he had been showing it about a bit, which prompted another party to state that the chances of finding diamonds in British Columbia were decidedly limited.

Whether in this particular case the person who had a precious stone picked up in British Columnot, there is hardly any justification, on present knowledge, for the belief that the province is out of bounds for precious stones of any description.

As a matter of fact, while not of commercial value, diamonds, rubies and sapphires have been found by prospectors panning gravel for gold. There was considerable excitement at one time over possible recovery of diamonds in the Tulameen district, where numbers of small gems were found in the gold-producing gravels. The late Fleet Robertson, one time provincial mineralogist, had some samples of the Tulameen diamonds, while the writer on several occasions saw wet rubies recovered from "washings" of Vancouver Island gravels.

It was Mr. Robertson's opinion, too, everyone who knew him will remember him as ultra-conservative where the ground wealth of the province was concerned, that the elements which were essential to the creation of the finest precious stones could also be responsible for making much larger ones. This was also the opinion of Dr. Charles Cammell, when director of the Geological Survey of Canada, concerning the Tulameen diamonds. He stated that stones of larger size might readily have been overlooked in the process of placer mining in that area.

NATURAL ASSUMPTION

That would be a natural assumption. The prospectors of that time—and they were good ones—knew where to look for precious and base metals and were well versed in all known methods for recovering gold values from river bars and glacial deposits. A bit of carbon worn by water or glacial action would be picked out of the pan of "dirt" in the washing process and tossed aside as readily as the piece of colored crystal or any other pebble. The yellow metal was all that interested them.

While it may have been possible, as some will tell you, that conditions for precious stone building were not favorable in the cooling-off period when the British Columbia terrain was taking on its present form, it is also reasonable to imagine that an intensive geological survey of the province might disclose deposits in which precious stones of economic value might be found.

Take Vancouver Island, for instance. While it might be safe to state casually that it couldn't possibly produce this or that, such a statement shouldn't be accepted conclusively until such time as competent geologists have had an opportunity of making a survey, which, under present conditions, may probably be a long time away.

There is a well-defined peninsula jutting out into the Pacific from the western front of Vancouver Island. It was sighted by Captain Cook, who named it Woody Point. It is now called Brook Peninsula and bears Cook's name at its north-west extremity.

Officially, Brook Peninsula has never been explored, and its interior, as far as general information goes, is so much terra incognita. Most Government maps show it as blank. I'll agree it is not very inviting, being hilly, with heights from 2,000 to 3,000 feet, broken by sharp valleys.

ROWED INTO LAGOON

The man from Guiana knew something of gold, and where to look for it, but was interested in other things besides that precious metal. Getting acquainted, he thought he would like to join me on some of my exploring jaunts. He did on several occasions. One of them was from Quatsino to Klaskan Inlet and Brook Peninsula. We went by small boat, sailing and rowing. Skirting the north shore of the peninsula, some distance out toward Cape Cook we opened up a small stream. We rowed into and up it, coming to a fair-sized lagoon. We beached our boat at the west end and climbed to the top of a hill from whence we could see a lot of territory, looking east.

What struck us in the picture spread out was the rugged appearance of one particular bit of mountain. Apparently it was an ancient "chimney" through which fire and other things had belched. It excited my companion, who wanted to get at it immediately, stating we might find diamonds there. We didn't go. The outlook was too tough. Maybe the old chap knew something at that, but the old "blow-hole" didn't interest me.

Siam Carefree in Midst of Troubled World

The author of this article is the editor of The Cleveland Plain Dealer. He recently made a round-the-world flight on the Clipper America of Pan-American Airways.

By PAUL BELLAMY
North American Newspaper Alliance
CLEVELAND, July 16.—I shall always look back upon my short stay in Bangkok as one of the pleasantest incidents of the recent round-the-world flight of American editors and publishers.

From reading the history of that fascinating country and from numerous articles in publications, I had made up my mind to find in Siam a tourist's delight, but had no idea how true this was.

With a population of only about 14,500,000 which is small indeed compared with the surrounding states, Siam is the only Far Eastern nation which has maintained its independence. In 1932 it changed from an absolute monarchy to a constitutional monarchy, is now a member of the United Nations and has, for the Far East, an exceptionally forward-looking modern view of world affairs.

Any disposition to regard it as a musical comedy country because of the white elephants, the temples and the unusual ceremonial costumes will be soon be dispasted by a visit to the country.

The people there, in marked contrast to those of India, are happy and carefree. One cannot see any Siamese on the street without being aware of this fact. Even the old people smile, to say nothing of young men, women and children.

Buddhism is the main religion of Siam and differs in many respects from other religions in that it has no rites, no sacrament, no formula conferring the Buddhist character. Laymen who have not been ordained as Buddhists are Buddhists by virtue of the single fact that they accept Buddhism as being the truth and have provided for the material maintenance of monks.

Alighting from the clipper at the Don Muang Airport, we were greeted by American and Siamese officials and taken in automobiles on an 18-mile drive to Bangkok.

At the Prime Minister's palace we signed the book which he maintains for the registration of visitors, after which we visited the Grand Palace and the Temple of the Emerald Buddha, which turned out to be one of the most interesting specimens of architecture in the world. The roof of the temple is covered with dark blue, glittering tiles, and under this hung many sweet-toned bells which constantly tinkle in the breeze. We were told that these bells carried out the function of driving devils away.

Taking off our shoes, as is the custom, we entered and witnessed part of a Buddhist ceremony which was going on.

Although the language was unintelligible and although I have no intention of ever becoming a Buddhist, still if one judges their religion by its effect on the attitude of the people, then I would think a good deal to be said for Buddhism as practiced in Siam, because it does make the people cheerful, merry and gay.

The main social event of our short stay in Bangkok was a buffet luncheon at the residence of United States Ambassador Edward F. Stanton, followed by Siamese music, Siamese dancing and an exhibition of quarter-staff fighting, in which the most fantastic costumes were worn by the participants.

Altogether we got a most pleasant impression of Bangkok and Siam. The European colony there seems to share with the native population a spirit of bon camaraderie which we shall never forget. Bangkok is a city I surely want to revisit.

—this could be the rehearsal room for the city's various musical activities—a lecture room, studios, and if possible a restaurant. In these surroundings the Choral Union, and other choral societies, the Gilbert and Sullivan Society, and the Symphony Orchestra might unite to form a splendid body of musicians, each the richer for co-operation with the other.

Such a centre, too, would soon be in demand as a place for a musical summer school and an added attraction for tourists. Nor is the idea so far fetched as it might appear. There has recently been talk of buying one of the old and venerable houses of a past age and remodelling it for such a purpose. Unhappily $30,000 would be needed to make the scheme fully effective. It is probable that a less ambitious start would be more likely to succeed. Something of this kind may yet grow out of the Little Centre, still in its infancy, but even now a force.

PLAYER ADOPTION

Good cultivation needs fertilization, and musical cultivation is no exception. It is a startling, if somewhat utopian, thought to realize that if every millionaire in Victoria was persuaded to adopt an orchestral player—and there would be hundreds of first-rate instrumentalists in Europe only too willing to come—the city would have an orchestra fit to compare with any in America. And, coming down from the clouds, if suitable millionaires could not be found, might not some organization such as the Kiwanis, perhaps, work along these lines. The latter have already been forward in helping music. They could, from time to time, attract to this island one of the brilliant students who yearly pass out of the leading schools of music by aiding him to settle in Victoria. It is common knowledge that there are branches of the musical profession here less well stocked than others. Obviously the effect of such new arrivals would be stimulating.

Above all—to continue the subject of cultivation—the best of complacency should be dealt with. Criticisms in the local press which affirm that home products compare favorably with the best offered elsewhere are sometimes quite true, but on other occasions are rather a tribute to the writer's patriotism than his critical sense.

In conclusion, there is a marked interest in music here, and the musician—even the newcomer—is certainly given generous encouragement. Two things appear to be needed: Dynamic leadership, which would order the forces now here to the best advantage; and continuous effort to add to those forces, by encouraging to these shores talent, which too often, as things are at present, turns south for a market.

It would be nice if the peace news from Europe was occasionally as good as some of the war news used to be. . . . It can be truly said that a perfume manufacturer sticks his business in other people's noses. . . . A kindly lady walking along Pembroke Street saw three small boys abutting at green apples from an old tree in a vacant lot, and advised them not to eat such fruit. After she had done so, the boys said:

"Of the lady said to the others: 'May-be she's right. Stomachs are what green apples make boys ache.' The Federal Government certainly gets its whack out of the purchase price of a new automobile. On a car listed at $1,485, the government adds $101 for excise tax and $80.99 for sales tax. . . . From Inventor Karl: 'I was working on flying saucers plans until I accidentally discovered the idea was very ancient. The first flying saucer was invented by the first housewife with the first set of dishes when her husband came home late for the first time. In order to prevent leaking garden hoses, I am now hard at work on a model that uses the hose merely as a core. The water will travel along the outside of the tube. . . . From the week's mail: 'At Ottawa, raspberries do not ripen until August or September, and sugar is not needed for preserving until late in the season. Apparently our members of Parliament do not realize that cities of British Columbia have an abundant crop of raspberries this year, and sugar for preserving should have been provided two weeks ago.' . . . Tourist officials of the Provincial Government and city apparently have never included a walk around Victoria West, and from the pulp-station to Clover Point, or they would have noted the dilapidated and neglected waterfront. A few yards from the south end of Douglas Street there is also an unguarded section of high cliff. After visiting other coast cities, one realizes it is a shame that our waterfront has never been developed."

APPLES FOR BRITAIN

Sir:—We have had a number of communications from Vancouver Island inquiring about the possibility of shipping gift apples to the United Kingdom this year.

For the information of any one interested, this question of sending gift shipments in the standard apple box to Great Britain rests entirely with the decision of the British Ministry of Food. At the present time the British and Canadian Governments are discussing the possibility of any transactions in fruit and vegetables. Until it is known what decision they may have arrived at, it is impossible to make any plans. If extensive gift shipments were to be made, there would have to be very considerable organization, and the detail work in this connection would take time to perfect. If the opportunity does arise, B.C. Fruit Growers will assist in any way possible.

West made his normal opening of the jack of hearts—the top of an incomplete sequence. Dummy played low. East put up the king—and declarer did some earnest thinking. He could count two tricks in spades, one in diamonds, two in hearts, and two in clubs, but the other two tricks would depend on unknown factors. If the club suit broke 3-3, dummy's long club could be established, but this pro-ability did not seem as good as the chance to take three diamond tricks. The latter plan, however, would probably depend on being able to make two diamond leads toward the closed hand, finessing each time.

Obviously, dummy's only potential entries were in the heart suit. The heart ten was marked with West, from his lead of the jack, hence it would not be too difficult to create an extra entry in dummy. Declarer merely played his hearts queen underneath East's king.

That was all that was necessary. East returned a club. Declarer won and led a heart. When West played low, dummy's nine-spot held and now a diamond was led. East ducked and declarer played the nine. West won and returned the club jack. East overtook with the queen. For additional safety, declarer ducked this trick. He won the club continuation, re-entered dummy with the heart ace, and took another diamond finesse, which succeeded. The diamond ace now dropped East's queen and gave declarer three diamond tricks. These, with two tricks in each of the other suits, produced his contract.

Declarer earned his victory—but all East had to do was refuse to put up the heart king, and declarer could have created the extra vital entry to dummy.

Britain, U.S. to Study Ruhr Coal Output Boost

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP).—State Secretary Marshall today pictured German coal as essential to European recovery and declared the United States is anxious to see Ruhr coal production increased.

To that end, he told a press conference, British and American experts will meet the latter part of next week in conferences here.

In London, authoritative persons indicated Britain may ask the United States at this meeting to assume a greater share of the burden of feeding and administering the combined British-American zones of occupation.

The additional cost for American taxpayers would be between $250,000,000 and $350,000,000 over the next two years if the United States agrees to the request, it was estimated. The costs now are shared half and half, but Britain is expected to say that her own strained resources will not permit her to carry this much of the load.

Marshall recently was asked whether the United States would consider such a request if made. He replied it would be considered, but he did not say whether the American attitude would be favorable.

At today's conference, Marshall was asked whether the United States will send officials to the Paris Economic Conference to give a hand toward fitting Germany into the European economic program. He said the initiative is that of the Europeans.

Marshall's concern for coal production in the Ruhr is in line with the new direction of American foreign policy toward a "stable and productive Germany." The obvious intention is to make the western zones self-supporting and a more important factor in the rebuilding of the continent.

The new policy, outlined in a directive this week, contains instructions to restrain militarism.

Japanese Peace Treaty Plan Would Give 11 Nations Voice

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP).—The United States has proposed an 11-nation conference to begin work on a Japanese peace treaty here August 19 in a move based on complete abandonment of the big power treaty dictation which has been used for Germany and Austria.

Canada would take part in the conference. American officials, disclosing the plan today, said they are uncertain whether Russia will accept the proposal, which would have the effect of eliminating a big four or big five veto control over every provision going into the treaty.

The proposal which went out only a few days ago and to which no replies have been received yet would not only take treaty-making out of the hands of four countries and turn it over to 11, but it also would establish a two-thirds voting system among the 11, so that even there no veto would be permitted.

The countries invited to the August 19 parley are the members of the Far Eastern commission set up about two years ago to make Allied policy for the Japanese occupation: Australia, Canada, China, France, India, The Netherlands, New Zealand, the Philippines, the United Kingdom, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The list includes the so-called Big Four of the Pacific war—the United States, Britain, China and Russia. It also includes countries such as Australia which, as American officials frequently point out, contributed much more to the war effort against Japan than Russia, which came in only at the last moment.

The meeting called here is supposed to tackle only questions of peace—treaty procedure—that is, creation of working committees, when and where peace conferences should be held and the like.

The date, August 19, follows by only 10 days the opening of a British Commonwealth conference on Japanese peace problems at Canberra. Some officials believe that because of this the Australians might favor a delay in the Washington conference.

Announcing the deal, Marshall said also he assumed that the American military mission in Greece was advising the Greek army on an instructional basis. The Greek army is in combat with guerrillas.

At a press conference Marshall did not go into detail on this point but other officials noted that recently enacted legislation authorizing $300,000,000 for bolstering Greece provided the mission could act in an "advisory capacity."

Seaway Action Delayed in U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP).—Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.) said today there is no chance for United States Senate action this session on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Vandenberg said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which he heads, will decide Friday whether to file a formal report with the Senate on the controversial matter or wait until the January session. It was discussed today at a closed-door session.

He said the opponents of the vast seaway and power project within the committee "very earnestly requested" a delay until January to allow them to file a minority report.

Earlier, Francis E. Wilby, chairman of the New York State Power Authority, told a House of Representatives sub-committee investigating the project:

"The need and value of the St. Lawrence project is clearly established by the overwhelming weight of evidence."

The Senate committee registered its approval of the plan last Tuesday. The House committee began its investigation the same day.

Immigrant Plan Upsets Canada

OTTAWA, July 16 (AP).—Reconstruction Minister Howe said in the Commons today the Federal Government viewed as "serious" arrangements by the Ontario Government to fix 7,000 United Kingdom immigrants to Canada and thereby "break across our treaty arrangements with the International Civil Aviation Authority."

He said the Federal Government had not been "formally consulted on the project, but added that any province or agency was "quite welcome" to sponsor plans to bring British immigrants. The Dominion's only function in such cases would be to provide facilities for examination.

The minister replied that Planning Minister Porter of Ontario had "at a late stage" told him something about the project. He had informed the Ontario official "instantly" that a United States plane carrying immigrants from the United Kingdom would not be able to land in Canada as planned by Ontario. This was against international civil aviation agreements.

Smoke Darkens Northern Sky

SEWARD, Alaska, July 16 (AP).—A smoke cloud darkens the sky over the Kenai Peninsula from Seward to Anchorage, but Dan Ralston of the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service said today the moose have become so accustomed to fire that they graze unconcernedly within 1,000 yards of the blaze which has ravaged 300,000 peninsula acres.

Ralston said the fire, recently reported to be within five miles of the village of Kenai, appeared to be some 15 miles from the settlement when he made a survey flight.

There was a concentration of wildlife at the outskirts of the blaze. A swamp within the burned area served as a refuge for much wildlife.

LIVERPOOL, England, July 16 (CP).—Captain Edgar Arthur Shergold, a veteran of service afloat through two world wars, was in command of the Empress of Canada today when she sailed for Quebec and Montreal on the first postwar voyage of a regular Canadian Pacific passenger liner.

The 20,000-ton vessel, carrying 700 passengers in her remodeled cabins, was a far different ship from the renamed Duchess of Richmond which Capt. Shergold brought up the St. Lawrence to Quebec in August 1945, drab in her wartime grey and heavily laden with more than 1,000 returning servicemen.

The vessel is scheduled to make its first eastbound sailing from Montreal July 28.

Pretty Wedding At St. Mark's

St. Mark's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on July 7 when Lucy Martha Edge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Edge, 3250 Alder Street, exchanged marriage vows with Kenneth P. Jeune, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Jeune, 1049 Summit Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white jersey silk frock with white halo hat and a corsage of yellow gladioli and sweet-

Gladioli, sweet peas and roses banked the fireplace and decorated the reception room at the home of the bride's parents where the couple, assisted by their mothers welcomed the guests. Mr. H. McDougall, uncle of the groom, proposed the toast.

For a motor trip to the United States, the bride donned a navy blue coat over her wedding ensemble. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Jeune will make their home at Parker Avenue, Cordova Bay.

Simple Desserts With Fruit Best During Warm July Days

No matter how hot July days may be there is some compensation for the home makers in the fact that there is an abundance of salad makings and also plenty of fruits for dessert.

Sweet cherries served cold with almonds are always welcome. Luscious strawberries or big deep red raspberries or blueberries so fresh that bloom is undiminished, served cold with cream are so good one wants to have them often. Then there are berry muffins made from the plain muffin mixture with ripe berries added to the batter before baking. Cobblers, with berries in the bottom and muffin mixture poured over so that when baked and turned out the berries become a sauce, are a special treat.

A plain cottage pudding served with crushed sweetened berries as a sauce is good and is quickly made. With a dab of hard sauce this simple dessert becomes elegant.

Short cakes do not always have to be made with strawberries. They are equally good with other fruits. The real fruit short-cake is a hot fluffy biscuit dripping with butter, smothered with sweetened berries and served with thick cold sweet cream. It is as old as cottons, and as new as nylons and just as popular today as 100 years ago. The modern innovation of cake- and whipped cream never quite takes its place.

There are not enough days to serve all the fruit desserts one would wish. The home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest three good recipes using cherries and berries. Two are old and well tried while the other is new, but tested and approved.

CHERRY SPONGE

1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs separated
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup sifted pastry flour or 1/4 cup less 1 tablespoon sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder

Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in two tablespoons sugar. Beat egg yolks and add remaining sugar and almond extract; fold in half the egg whites, then add flour, mixed and sifted with the baking powder. Stir lightly. Fold in the remainder of egg whites. Turn into a lightly greased cake pan. Set in a moderate oven 350 degrees Fahrenheit, for 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve hot or cold with fresh cherry sauce.

HONEY BLUEBERRY PUDDING

1/4 cup bran cereal
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup honey
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/4 cup sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup fresh blueberries

Pour milk and honey over bran and let stand 5 minutes. Then add butter. Sift together flour, soda and salt and add to first mixture. Stir only until blended. Stir in blueberries and pour into greased 8-inch cake pan. Bake in moderate oven, 350° F., about 30 minutes. Serve warm with your favorite honey lemon or custard sauce. Six servings.

RASPBERRY MOUSSE

3 cups fresh raspberries
1 tablespoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1/2 cup fruit sugar
Pinch of salt
1/4 pint whipping cream

Press berries through sieve to remove seeds. Add sugar and salt. Soak gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Stir into fruit pulp. When mixture is partially set fold in cream, whipped until stiff. Allow to set. Six servings.

RAW CANNING OF RASPBERRIES

Pack berries in sealers or cans and cover with boiling syrup, leaving headspace. Completely seal. Place on several layers of newspapers in a tub and pour in enough boiling water to cover tops of containers by at least 3 inches. When

"Borstal Girls" Begin Life Anew in Stately Old Home

EAST SUTTON PARK, England, July 16 (AP)—A 16th-century country house in this Kent town, oak-paneled with coats-of-arms adorning its walls, has become the first "open" corrective institution for young women in Britain.

The girls, ranging in age from 18 to 22, do all their own work and make their own rules of behavior. Only when they leave the grounds, as they frequently do, are they under supervision.

The Prison Commission took over the house and estate last October and sent seven "Borstal" girls, all with theft records, to the house to "start from scratch."

They found it white with dust and its 3 1/2-acre kitchen garden overgrown after years of disuse. Seven volunteer teachers watched while the girls selected curtain materials and other decorations to "make a home" for themselves.

The house now is spotless, its floors gleaming, its curtains gay, its furniture well cared for. Thirteen other girls since have joined the original seven.

There are no punishments here and the only house-rules are those drawn up by the girls themselves. They work happily, practically without supervision.

Mary, a red-headed Scot, paused while hoeing potatoes to remark proudly, "We had potatoes out of our own garden for dinner last Sunday."

Britons Favor Big Wedding For Princess

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—Should Princess Elizabeth's wedding be a big one, with dancing in the streets and fireworks at night, or a simple little affair with only a few thousand guests?

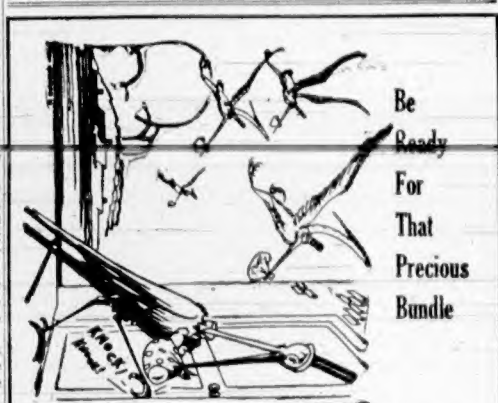

This austerity versus glamor debate waxed hot over Britain's tea-cups today and spilled over into the letters-to-the-editor columns.

"If Princess Elizabeth were to have a quiet wedding and not waste a lot of money and time, maybe it would encourage us to carry on working harder," a Yorkshire factory worker wrote to The Daily Mirror.

"Away with austerity—let us make it a day she, and all of us, will remember," urged a writer to The Daily Express.

By The Daily Express' count, six Britons favor a wedding with all the trimmings—to help people forget the drabness of life amid bomb ruins and shortages—for every one who holds into a lot of people's heads. A Bond Street marriage broker reported business was up 60 per cent and gave full credit to the Princess for setting the example.

Russian Gift Cartons Pass Million Pounds

WASHINGTON, July 16 (NANA).—Americans are sending postwar gift packages of food and clothing to people in Soviet Russia at the rate of more than 1,000,000 pounds a year.

The post office disclosed that in 12 months last year nearly 100,000 trade issued new regulations lifting the maximum weight restrictions on gift parcels sent through the post office to 22 pounds.

Although no dollar value was estimated for the packages sent last year, the department reported that the cost of individual parcels ranges from $12 to $56, with the Soviet custom charges prepaid by the American sender.

This total was revealed as the U.S.S.R. division of the Commerce Department's office of international Baltic Republics now under Soviet control.

Commerce officials reported that they have had numerous inquiries from Americans who want to send packages to Russian relatives. In the last six months, the department sent out more than 900 letters and circulars in response to requests for information.

H. H. Ware, acting chief of the Department's U.S.S.R. division, says that Americans probably would send a much greater number of relief packages if the Russians would lower the stiff custom duties they now impose on American parcels.

He estimates that American senders now are paying two to three times the original value of the packages by the time all duties, fees and charges are collected by Soviet authorities.

As now fixed, the Soviet duties on American gift parcels range from 50 to 75 per cent for shoes and medicines, 100 per cent for clothing and as much as 250 per cent for perfumes and cosmetics.

charges are paid; the package costs the American sender $13.45.

These stiff duties, commerce officials say, apparently are imposed by the Soviet Government in an attempt to discourage the sending of relief parcels to the U.S.S.R. and to prevent their resale on the black market in scarcity-ridden Russia.

To avoid arousing the ire of the Soviet Government, department officials recommend that American senders concentrate on sending age of perfume worth $4.30. By the time all Soviet duties, fees and other dark, conservative clothing and profit of $5,000,000 last year. Tickets other articles that could not be regarded as "conspicuously foreign."

The Soviet Government has notified the Commerce Department it will place "no limit" on the amount of flour, grits, sugar, butter and fats sent into the Soviet Union. All these foods are reportedly still very scarce in Russia.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON
A "FROG IN THE THROAT"

The frog is so-called from a real which also served the Teutonic languages. The Anglo-Saxon frōga and the German "frosch" are cognates.
Prenchmen, or rather Parisians, have found the term (clucking to them in vulgar or derisive English usage) all because their ancient heraldic device was three frogs, or three toads. And for a time after the publication of Arbuthnot's "Law of a Bottomless Pit," Nicholas, or No. Frog had some usage as a nickname for the Dutch. Also there is a certain water plant called "frogbit," a fish named "frogfish" with a head larger than the body and known for its ugliness, a bird called "frogmouth" because of its large mouth, and a mollusk called "frog shell" because of its resemblance to the amphibian.

There is also the braid button and loop "frog" serving as a fastener on a garment which goes back to old military uniforms, and was so called in the writings of George Washington. The derivation of this "frog" is uncertain but it may come from the Portuguese fuoco, meaning a tuft of wool or silk.

The most interesting item of the "frog" nomenclature is the old saying to describe hoarseness or constriction in the throat as having "a frog in the throat." This takes us back to an old medical term, which was defined in 1856 in "Ridley's Practical Physics" as follows: "The Frog—It is a swelling under the tongue that is common to children" (checked by The Medical Institute, Inc.).

TRACTORS FIGHT JUNGLE
SINGAPORE (CP)—One hundred and ten caterpillar tractors arrived in Malaya recently for short-term production. Primarily used for clearing jungle and removal of tree stumps, the tractors will play a role in preparing the land for food cultivation.

WANT TIGER FAT?
YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—The Yorkton Board of Trade knows where to obtain a few pounds of tiger fat, a bottle of dragon blood, a water lizard skin or a loose fitting leopard skin.
C. Zuck, of Bombay, India, in a recent letter to the board offered these articles among 33 that he had for sale.
LESS STOUT; LESS CRIME
CORK, Eire (CP)—Commenting on the stout shortage in Eire Judge

J. K. O'Connor said: "It is an ill-wind that blows nobody good and certainly the scarcity of drink will have the effect of further lessening the amount of crime that comes here before us."
NEW DELHI (CP)—Three United Kingdom experts representing the London committee of the Royal Society of Arts are on a tour of India to select objects of Indian art for an exhibition to be held at London next winter.

Graziano Captures Zale's Ring Crown

Wins by T.K.O. in Sixth After Second Torrid Title Bout—Record Indoor Gate

CHICAGO STADIUM, July 16 (AP)—Rock-a-bye Rocky Graziano, the tough kid off Lower Manhattan's street corners—the kid they said would grow up to be a champion—won the world middleweight championship tonight by doing just that.

In a fierce flailing exhibition of blood-and-thunder brawling that had the crowd of 18,547 more than half hysterical most of the way, the rock-a-bye kid came on to stop the magnificent Tony Zale by a technical knockout in two minutes and 10 seconds of the sixth round.

He did it after absorbing all of Zale's Sunday shots and asking for more through the first four bouts. He'd been floored once himself—in the third—and his left eye had been gashed open and his right all but shut up as tight as a sealed envelope through the third and fourth.

Then he started to come. He found the range and his terrific time-bombs were right on the target as Tony weakened. Through the last part of the fifth he staggered Zale with murderous blows from both hands that drew loud "coos" from the sweltering spectators. Through the early part of the sixth he took complete charge and all but tore Tony apart.

Graziano, a 7-to-5 underdog in the betting, weighed 155½, Zale 158.

Referee Johnny Behr stopped the fight with Zale down for the first time, half in and half out of the ring after absorbing terrific punishment.

The end came after five rounds of the same fierce action that marked their first fight last September when Zale retained his championship by knocking out Graziano, also in six rounds.

This time Graziano was floored in the third round for no count, had his left eye ripped open and his right eye virtually closed tight from the early beating.

In the fifth, he came on to hand out vicious punishment and continued it in the sixth. Zale finally went down, but was getting up at the count of three, when Referee Behr halted the proceedings.

The gross gate, an all-time indoor record for a fight was $415,126.56.

Horse Lover Takes Action

MIAMI, Fla., July 16 (AP)—H. E. Hardy's love for horses has caused the creation of a new township known as Virginia Gardens where Ole Dobbin is as welcome as its most distinguished citizen.

Hardy, whose affection for horses dates back many years, became annoyed when Miami Springs passed an ordinance prohibiting the housing of horses within 200 feet of an occupied dwelling.

"Burned up," Hardy decided to do something. With the assistance of others who wanted to keep horses, he formed the mile-square area of Virginia Gardens, where there'll be no such law. Hardy is the mayor.

Power Boat Race Set for Saturday

SEATTLE, July 16 (AP)—A fleet of 150 power boats will chug out of Bremerton Saturday in the 1947 International cruiser race, one of the Northwest's boating classics.

This year's race will be through the San Juan Islands in Nanaimo, with the skippers predicting their own time for the voyage and the best estimator taking the trophy.

The first race staged in 1928, was from Olympia to Juneau and E. J. Thompson of Olympia was the winner.

Strong Y.M.C.A. Track Squad To Compete for Canadian Titles

A team of 17 men represent the Victoria Y.M.C.A. in the Canadian championship track and field competition at Vancouver on Friday and Saturday.

Having captured four first places in the recent Vancouver police sports, the Y.M.C.A. athletes, who have been practicing almost daily the past month or two, are expected to do well despite the stiff competition from the U.S., Eastern Canada and other points.

Several local performers have a chance to carry off a Canadian title. Cliff Salmond, who has done some excellent running, should be the man to beat in the mile. Harry Mitchell, captain who ran well last year but who has been slow rounding into shape because he suffered from a pulled muscle last fall, will head the list of sprinters from Victoria.

The interview is expected by Coach Bruce Hunter and Archie McKinnon to place in the first four having shown fine form recently.

But Thompson, veteran member of the Y, will be a threat in the weight events. He took two events at the recent Mainland police sports. Thompson will be making his favored appearance as he will be leaving Sunday for Holland, where he was become chief instructor for the Dutch Air Force.

McKinnon has rounded up a couple of his old stars. Bill Dale and Andy Gillespie, who although not performing in the individual events, will comprise half of the mile relay team which should make things interesting for the starchy opposition from south of the border.

Likely partners for Gillespie and Dale are Jim Mill and Joe Zaher.

Instruction recently by E. J. Hamilton, former Canadian champion pole vaulter, formerly of Winnipeg, Hamilton won the Dominion title in 1938 and captured the inter-collegiate crown while attending the University of Toronto in 1933.

The entry list has been so heavy that the Vancouver officials have decided to run several heats and semi-finals on Friday evening.

Accompanied by Hunter and McKinnon, the team members making the trip are as follows: Jim McKinnon, Al McKinnon, Doug McNeil, Rafael Duke, Cliff Salmond, Joe Zaher, Harry Mitchell, Elaine Silburn, Harry Mitchell, Elaine Silburn, Harry Mitchell, Elaine Silburn, Harry Mitchell, Elaine Silburn.

Par Takes Beating in Canadian Open; Palmer's 66 Leads—Leonard Has 69

SCARBORO GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, TORONTO, July 16 (AP)—A par-walking contingent of Americans and Canadians took apart Scarborough's tough course today and an even two dozen bettered regulation figures in the first 18 holes of play for the $10,000 Canadian Open Golf championship.

Thirteen more of the field of 150 came through in even par.

On in front in the first quarter money of the 72-hole chase was 27-year-old Johnny Palmer of Badin, N.C., who dropped five birdies on the back nine and finished with a 66, five strokes under par.

Donnelly Scores 162 Not Out in O.C. Cricket

LONDON, July 16 (Reuters)—Martin P. Donnelly, New Zealand test-match player and Oxford University's captain this season, made 162 not out in a 3-4-hour test match today when the Gentlemen met the Players as one of the major cricket matches of the season.

Donnelly, thought by many to be the world's best left-handed batsman, hit 26 fours as the Gentlemen compiled 302 runs in their first innings against the Players' 47 for two wickets by close of play.

Rain interfered with many county matches and also interrupted a match between the touring South African test team and Derbyshire.

Navy, Gasmen In Deadlock

Navy and Pitzer and Nex ended up in a 6-5 deadlock in a senior baseball fixture at Memorial Park last night which was called at the end of the ninth inning.

The Gasmen pointed on the left of starting hurler Hallow for four runs in the first frame. Tudor, who was called to the mound by Manager "Mac" Hallow, pitched good ball for the remainder of the game, giving up two unearned runs and striking out 11 batters.

Navy scored singletons in each of the first three innings and came up with a trio of marksmen in the seventh as Right Fielder Don Wilson started in a hitting role by driving in four of the Sailors' six runs.

Young Al Tancost who started for the Gasmen was said to have 10 free passes before being taken out in favor of Manager Ross McLeish in the seventh after Navy had tied the score.

The Gasmen left 11 men stranded on the base while Navy also had difficulty in hitting in the clutches and left 10 men on base.

Don Robinson, Pitzer and Nex shortstopper, collected the most hits with three for five.

Senior "B" Playoffs To Start on July 28

At a meeting of the senior "B" softball league last night, it was decided that the first four teams in both Divisions One and Two would play-off for division winners.

The first and fourth teams and the second and third teams will clash in best-of-three series with the winners meeting in a similar series.

First play-off games for both divisions will be held on July 28.

Play-off positions have not been decided in Division One but in Division Two teams finished in the following order: B.C. Forest Products Superior Produce, R.C.N.A.D. and New Method Laundry.

List Manitoba Team For Willingdon Cup

WINNIPEG, July 16 (AP)—Dr. P. J. Gallagher, chairman of the Manitoba Golf Association selection committee, today announced the four golfers who will represent the province at the Willingdon Cup matches at Quebec, August 11.

Players selected were Harold Elvick, recent winner of the provincial amateur golf championship, Allan Ross, captain of the Pictou amateur and Howard Bennett, all of Winnipeg.

Elvick got three runs back in their half without the benefit of a base hit as Big John Marshall filled the bags with walks. An infield out and a wide throw by Elvick played the trio. Hooper's triple followed a walk to Patterson to add a singleton in the fifth.

Marshall escaped further danger until the eighth, when a sudden rain stop the count before Manager Alan Strange could dispatch Rub Kittle to his rescue.

White and Mastro singled and Harshman stroled to lead the sacks. While counted as Jensen forced Harshman, Johnny Cavali, who celebrated his 36th birthday yesterday, then brought the crowd to its feet by clouting Marshall's first offering for a tremendous home run his 13th-to tie the count.

The tobacco-chewing Kittle, who took his first trimming from the A's at Bremerton on Tuesday, struck out Elvick and Woop to end the inning and then took Patterson on strikes to open the ninth.

However, John Hooper worked him for a base on balls and then contributed no small part to the Victoria victory by breaking up a double play attempt as White bounced to the infield.

Vir Mastro then became the game's final hero when he slashed a double into right field and White's slanting carried him to the plate still ahead of the throw.

It was a glorious finale to a game in which the winners wasted several scoring opportunities by some double base running. Two men were caught at the plate earlier in the game and Patterson was run down between first and second after taking too wide a turn at first after a scratch hit.

Second game of the series will be played tonight with Dick Mitchell out for eighth pitch home triumph for Victoria. Harry Johnston will serve them up from the post side for Bremerton.

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—A nearly total of 10,000 smokers' pipes is made here from Australian hardwoods. The pipes are said to be entirely free from acid taste and contain content sometimes noticeable in the world's best briars.

Eastern Net Aces Add to Test Lead

B. Macken, Rochon and McDiarmid Score in Singles—Stohlberg in Lone West Win

By VALERIE SCOTT
The second day's play in the East versus West Davis Cup trials at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club court ended with the East leading by six points.

They collected three points in the singles as Brendan Macken, Henri Rochon and Don McDiarmid all won their matches. West Stohlberg was the only one to carry the Western colors successfully. The East chalked up two more points when the Macken brothers defeated Stohlberg and Jim Skelton in a doubles match.

Skelton again proved his fighting qualities as he saved five match points from Brendan Macken.

Despite losing Skelton produced better tennis than on the previous day and there were some brilliant rallies between the two men.

Jim Macken tried to make up for the loss of his brother by winning his match with the wonderful serves and powerful backhand.

U.S. Lawn Bowlers Take Gray Trophy

VANCOUVER, July 16 (AP)—United States lawn bowlers captured the Robert Gray Trophy here tonight as they defeated a Canadian team by 199 shots to 188 in the annual international match. Today's contest was the first of a two-day series which will start at 2 p.m.

RESULTS: Skelton (W) beat Jim Macken (E) 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. Brendan Macken (E) beat Jim Skelton (W) 6-4, 6-4.

B. Macken and Jim Macken (E) beat W. Stohlberg and A. Skelton (W) 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

Caps Edge Tigers in Wild Slugfest

VANCOUVER, July 16 (AP)—Vancouver Caplans scored 11 runs in the fifth inning here tonight but still had to push over a run in the last half of the ninth to edge Tacoma Tigers 13-12 in a wild slugfest.

Seven home runs were clocked over the short-fest at Caplans Stadium with Bob Hestington, Tacoma third baseman, who collected five in a double-header earlier in the season, pounding out three.

Maur Duvonay for the Tigers and Bob Hall, Red Tan and Charlie Head were the other home run clouters.

Dusky Chance Takes Longacres Handicap

SEATTLE, July 16 (AP)—Dusky Chance, all but left at the post, flashed unexpected speed today in the six furlongs, 1100 feature race at Longacres to win by two and a half lengths in one minute, 11 seconds.

An outsider, Dusky Chance returned $29.50, $14.90 and $9.40 in the money. Ever Chatter took show money and paid $5.50 and $7.90 and the pay on Parlo for show was $10.90. A crowd estimated at 2,170 accounted for a mutual handle of $162,181.

Zale Gets $135,492

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—Rocky Graziano received an estimated $135,492 for winning the middleweight championship tonight while Tony Zale received for about $135,492 for losing to him.

The gross gate was $412,918. Less taxes, the net was an estimated $396,739. An additional $30,000 for radio broadcasting rights made a total of $336,739 from which the fighters' purses were taken.

Zale received 60 per cent and Graziano 20 per cent.

Foreign Trade Of Czechs Now Soviet-Bound

PRAGUE, July 16 (AP)—Economic experts estimated today that Czechoslovakia's tightened economic pact with the East would divert at least half her foreign trade to the "planned economy states" of the Soviet bloc.

Thus Czechoslovakia exports to the East would be doubled.

The Government heard Premier Klement Gottwald (Communist) explain last night why he called Prague from Moscow last week urgently requiring the Cabinet to back out of the Paris Conference on unified European economy under the Marshall Plan for United States aid. Gottwald said he had just talked to Prime Minister Stalin and made it clear that the convention left no other course. After hearing the report, the Government sent its thanks to Stalin.

The Czechoslovak public was noticeably depressed. Despite window dressing, it had been made clear to them, particularly by non-Communist newspapers in the first shock of the Government's reversal on the Paris Conference, that their country now is committed to the Soviet orbit.

Most Czechoslovaks are fully aware that their country's refusal to participate in unified European economy undoubtedly will mean no further economic aid from the West.

Southern Pacific trains involved would be those running from San Francisco to Ogden, Utah, and south of Los Angeles, Tucson, Ariz., and El Paso, Tex. There was no immediate comment from Southern Pacific officials.

Qualicum Beach Attracts Hundreds of Tourists

Top photograph shows popular Qualicum Beach where hotels, auto courts and beach cabins attract hundreds of tourists from far and wide every season. The village itself is located 30 miles northwest of Nanaimo, and has a permanent population of 500 persons. Lower photograph shows the golf course, laid out facing the calm Strait of Georgia. In addition to golf, tourists enjoy fine fresh and salt water fishing, bathing, hiking, boating and horseback riding.

Qualicum Beach, July 16.—Plans for the 33rd Fall Fair of the Ladysmith Agricultural Society, which is to be held on September 17 and 18, are progressing, and indications are that there will be many entries in every department.

An added attraction this year will be a calf show, and a donation of $25 has been received from the Ladysmith Agricultural Society for the show.

Prizes are also being offered by the Ladysmith Agricultural Society for the Boys' and Girls' Calf Club competition, and only members of the club will be allowed to compete.

Committees appointed for the various sections are: Fruit, G. Golds, R. Simpson, D. Wilson and C. Rickard; vegetables, D. Wilson, G. Gold, R. Simpson, J. Heard and W. Pettit; flowers, W. Wilson, J. Rumble, Mrs. E. H. Peckless, Miss Bryant and T. Housman.

Funeral services are in charge of the Davis Funeral Parlor, Duncan, and will be held in St. Michael's and All Angels' Church, Chemainus, with interment in Chemainus Cemetery.

LONDON (CP)—Shortage of men conductors has compelled the Passenger Transport Board to appeal for more women "clippies."

but asked that a decision be held over until after August 5, when a mass meeting of district veterans will be held at Cobble Hill to discuss ways and means of improving the present branch. Mr. Webber made the request in view of the definite split that would occur in the Malahat Branch.

However, it was decided that action could not be delayed, and the following were elected temporary officers until a charter can be obtained: President, N. Bonner, secretary, G. C. May, executive committee, W. Wicks, G. Wasse, E. R. Bamber, R. Brown and G. Saunders.

The executive was instructed to proceed without delay in the formalities required by the Provincial Command to form a new branch. It was decided that a full report of proceedings be made to the mass meeting of district veterans on August 5. No name for the new branch has yet been chosen.

H. G. Webber, president of the Malahat Branch, conceded that there might be merit in having a branch of the Legion at Cobble Hill.

COBBLE HILL, July 16.—Decision to form a new branch of the Canadian Legion was made at a well-attended meeting of ex-servicemen in Cobble Hill Hall.

G. Wasse, of Cobble Hill, in calling the meeting to order, expressed the opinion that there were enough veterans in the district now represented by the Malahat Branch to support two, or even three, branches, and that the district was still growing rapidly. In comparing the poor attendance at meetings of the Malahat Branch with its large membership, the opinion was expressed that the apparent lack of interest stemmed mainly from the fact that the present branch, with alternate meetings at Cobble Hill and Shawanigan Lake, had no definite home of its own.

Duncan Orders Parking Meters; $67.50 Each

DUNCAN, July 16.—The City Council entered into a contract with the M-C Meter Corporation of Canada to supply 230 parking meters to be installed in the business area of Duncan, at a cost of $67.50 per meter.

The equipment will cost the city nothing, as the company will install the machines and take 75 per cent of the collections until paid for. If the city is dissatisfied at the end of the year, the company will remove the machines without cost.

The streets where meters will be installed are Canada Avenue, Station Street, Kenneth Street and Craig Street. On Canada Avenue there will be parallel parking from Station Street to Municipal Hall, on the north side and parallel parking on the south side; Craig Street, parallel parking, both sides; and Kenneth Street, parallel parking on both sides.

There will be free parking areas at the Post Office, outside doctors' offices, and several other locations.

A petition from property owners for the construction of a concrete sidewalk on the south side of Kenneth Street between Jubilee and Government Streets was approved and submitted to the streets committee.

Fruit Harvest May Drop This Season

British Columbia's fruit belt, which produced a record harvest of 9,892,079 boxes of apples last year, is not expected to do so well this year, according to latest crop estimates by the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Total harvest of apples for the province is currently estimated at 7,783,400, although conditions between now and picking time may effect a change.

Vancouver Island's contribution to the total crop is relatively small, estimated at 24,000 boxes this year, as against an actual yield of 25,916 in 1946. Island pear harvest is expected to run to about 4,000 boxes, compared with 4,250 boxes picked last year.

Grape harvest throughout the province, however, is expected to increase to 2,792,350 pounds this year, against last year's 2,193,152. Pound pick island vineyards are expected to produce 60,000 pounds, roughly equal to last year's yield.

Fawn Holds Up Logging Operations

RANCES Earl is pictured above feeding a one-month-old fawn which, by its stubbornness, forced a logging truck driver to remove the tiny animal by hand from the middle of a logging road near Jordan River. The driver, realizing that the fawn's mother would leave it if touched by human hands, tried to move it with a stick to no avail. The logger, feeling he could no longer hold up business, removed the fawn. The animal is now "doing well" on a bottle. It has become unusually tame, answering to its name like a dog.

Grateful Letters From Britons Continue to Pour Into Victoria

Letters from the United Kingdom expressing thanks for parcels received from Victoria with money provided by the Mayor's Fund continue to pour into the city, according to Mrs. F. E. Dowdall, chairman of the committee in charge of sending the parcels. Nearly 300 have been received.

One lady more than 60 years of age drew a picture of just what the parcels mean to tightly-rationed Britain.

"We have 24 points for the whole month," she explained. "The tin of meat you sent would be 20 points, the salmon 16 points. The chicken, unobtainable, would be at least 20. A tin of milk half the size would be eight; the dried eggs eight; the tin of jam 12 points. You have sent me something which would contain at least two months' ration of fat."

More parcels have been ordered for shipment. Mrs. Dowdall said yesterday, and by the end of the week the total will reach 1,504.

Meanwhile the Mayor's Fund has climbed near the $2,000 mark.

The Crown appealed the acquittal by a jury last March on the grounds that Chief Justice J. C. McRuer was wrong in law in ruling that statements made to police by Mrs. Dick were inadmissible at her second trial in the slaying of her husband.

The Crown appealed the acquittal by a jury last March on the grounds that Chief Justice J. C. McRuer was wrong in law in ruling that statements made to police by Mrs. Dick were inadmissible at her second trial in the slaying of her husband.

It was the second time the Ontario Court of Appeal has ruled the statements to police were inadmissible. They did so when Mrs. Dick appealed the conviction reached at her first trial on the same charge.

The court's judgment ended another chapter in the bizarre story of the slaying of the Hamilton street car motorman in which three persons were charged and none convicted of the actual crime.

Mrs. Dick, however, was convicted of manslaughter in the death of an infant and sentenced to life imprisonment. Her father, Donald MacLean, pleaded guilty to a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the slaying and was sentenced to five years.

MacLean was acquitted of a murder charge in the Dick slaying after Mr. Justice A. M. Lebel took the case from an Assize Court jury at his trial last March. The same jury returned a directed verdict of acquittal in the case of William Bohonuk, the third person originally charged.

Occupants of the boat, Miss R. P. Dauphin, Roy Pick and Bob Brown, said they were rowing across the inlet near the Second Narrows bridge when their tiny craft was swamped by the wake of three passing motorboats.

Their cries for help brought Alvin Perry rushing to the scene in his fishboat. He dragged Miss Dauphin to safety and towed the motorboat to shore, while another passing motorboat picked up the two men.

Blaze Covers Three Acres

Sanich firemen were kept busy yesterday keeping a three-acre bush fire under control at Ten Mile Point. The call was first reported as a house fire, but when firemen arrived they found it to be a large brush fire with a good hold.

The blaze was reported at 3:20 p.m. and firemen remained at the scene until late in the evening when flames were subdued.

The area burned out was in the vicinity of Palmetto Road. No homes were damaged, the department said last night.

City firemen extinguished a small fire on the Corsair yesterday afternoon. The ship was not badly damaged, they said, but some canvas was burned.

Another fire brought city firemen out again to answer a call at the Victoria Machinery Depot. An incinerator was found to be out of control. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

A series of small grass fires on Beacon Hill Park, rounded out the evening for city firemen who were kept on the move, tracking them down.

Cousin Seeks English Cyclist

The English cyclist who arrived in Victoria this week with 16,000 miles to his credit, is being paged by a travel-minded cousin in Vancouver.

A news photograph of the New Zealand-bound bicycle fan, Eric Cooke, was seen by his cousin, Miss Audrey Cooke, of Vancouver, who is now attempting to get in touch with him.

"We haven't met in years," she said, "but it would be fun to have sort of a reunion here."

A Y.W.C.A. stenographer, Miss Cooke also has desires to travel. She intends to go on from Vancouver down the Pacific Coast to Mexico, to South America, return by the East Coast, then to Australia.

Cooke has traveled through Eastern Canada and the United States. He intends to tour the island, visit the Mainland and the East before striking out next Spring for New Zealand by boat.

Russia Urges Third Atomic Convention

LAKE SUCCESS, July 16 (AP)—Soviet Russia called today for a third atomic convention, setting up a quota system for limiting atomic materials to countries taking part in a world-wide control plan.

In a surprise declaration to a closed meeting of the political committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, declared that a quota system should be established by a special convention. This convention, he said, should contain the points on which countries could assume their obligation in the quota system.

Gromyko already has proposed two conventions to the United Nations, the first would ban atomic weapons immediately. The second would establish controls for atomic energy under an international control organ.

Gromyko said Russia considered some kind of measure should be adopted to protect all countries and that an appropriate way would be to establish a system of quotas in accordance with which they would develop their atomic energy and occupy their proper place in the atomic setup.

Neither city is financially able to construct, operate or maintain such expensive airports as are needed, the Alaska said.

James M. Landis, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board and co-chairman of the Air Co-ordinating Committee, estimated 75 per cent of air travel to the Orient will pass through Alaska.

Witnesses testified that army airports near the two cities had made useless the existing municipal airports because they are in the pattern of the army fields. They said that because of this the Government was obligated to construct the airports and Alaskan witnesses said the Government should maintain and operate them.

B.C.'s First Liquor Plebiscites Since 1939 Slated for Autumn

First liquor plebiscites in British Columbia since the beginning of the war will be taken at various centres throughout the province this year.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer announced yesterday.

A total of sixteen applications for plebiscites are being checked now by government officials, and the votes will probably be taken in September, Mr. Wismer said. Most of them will relate to sale of beer by the glass.

Sidney is the only centre on Vancouver Island from which a plebiscite application has so far been received. Residents there will vote on sale of beer by the glass, if the application is found to be in order.

The 16 requests represent an accumulation since 1940, as it was the Government's policy not to submit liquor plebiscites during war years.

Last vote taken on the island was on August 24, 1939, when City of Victoria electors voted 3,909 in favor and 5,942 against sale of beer by the glass. Last in the Province was in South Okanagan, September 15, 1939.

Liquor plebiscites are an expression of public feeling only and results are not binding on the Government. To carry, they require 55 per cent of the total votes cast. Applications for plebiscites require petitions signed by at least 35 per cent of the voters in the polling divisions concerned, with affidavits witnessing the signatures.

Under the Liquor Control Plebiscites Act, the Lieutenant-Governor in council may at any time submit to a vote of the electors any question relating to the control or suppression of traffic in alcoholic liquors.

Plebiscites on liquor cannot be taken at intervals less than three years.

Claim Alaska Needs Airports

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Government construction of two large airports in Alaska for use of planes of international routes was urged upon the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee today.

One would appropriate $5,000,000 for a large airport at Fairbanks and the other $8,000,000 for an international airport which witnesses said would have to be located at Anchorage.

Witnesses testified that army airports near the two cities had made useless the existing municipal airports because they are in the pattern of the army fields. They said that because of this the Government was obligated to construct the airports and Alaskan witnesses said the Government should maintain and operate them.

Lady Rodney To Resume Prewar Run

Honorably discharged after nearly five years of gallant war service, restored to her familiar yacht-like trim, the Canadian National steamship Lady Rodney has been repaired and will sail for Bermuda and tax Saturday.

Next month, the only other surviving "Lady" ship, the Lady Nelson, will return to her peacetime calling. Capt. R. A. Clarke, general manager, Canadian National Steamships, announced yesterday. Three sister ships famous in the days before the war, the Lady Drake, Lady Somers and Lady Hawkins, were destroyed by enemy action.

Ports all the way from Boston to Georgetown, British Guiana, will put out their flags to welcome the Lady Rodney, according to Capt. Clarke. Her first voyage will be something like a royal progress, with official receptions everywhere she touches. The white-hulled "Lady" ships were symbols of the

India Nearing Independence

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—The Indian Independence Bill was passed by the House of Lords tonight and sent to the King for royal approval—the final act that will give divided India Dominion status. Royal assent will be given Friday.

Passed by the House of Commons yesterday, the bill creates two separate Indian Dominions of India (Hindustan) and Pakistan (Moslem), effective August 15. Prime Minister Attlee has expressed the hope that the Indian princely states will join one or the other.

Dominion status is granted to each of the two Dominions until June, 1948, when Britain has promised to withdraw from India. Then it will be up to each Dominion whether it remains in the Commonwealth.

Designer Defends "American Look"

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Pad your hips if you like, squeeze your waistline if you must, but lady, please keep your shoulders square. Such is the plea of Maurice Rentner, who issued a ringing defence of the "American look" along with his Fall collection, and predicted that North American women will not surrender without a fight to the round-shouldered, wide-hipped silhouette which some designers seek to foist upon them. Said he: "The American woman, solely for the purpose of change, will not adopt a fashion that is not becoming to most women would not look well in the predicted lengths or widths." So, saying, Designer Rentner shows a highly wearable group of Fall fashions in which he uses shoulder pads boldly, clings in many instances to the slim skirt, tapered waistlines and eschews hip pads. A high spot of his collection is the flowing "Dickens collar," upstanding in back, with long points in front, reappearing on coats and suits alike. Anthony Blotta, known for beautifully-tailored suits as well as dresses, also tempers the predicted hourglass silhouette in his collection, uses smaller but still evident shoulder pads, nips in waistlines and achieves "hip roundness" by means of huge gathered pockets with vertical slits. The barnacle is a sea animal smaller than a man's thumb.
